The Global Childhood Media Research Focus Group welcomes graduate and undergraduate students from any department with an interest in Childhood Studies to attend our Open House. Learn about our on-campus Childhood Studies community (courses, affiliated faculty, and graduate students), research and conference opportunities offered by the Global Childhood Media Research Focus Group, and proposals for a new Childhood and Youth Studies Minor and Ph.D. Emphasis in Childhood Studies. Join us for more information on programming, research opportunities, mentorship, participation in an annual Undergraduate Research Showcase, talks and reading groups, and a like-minded community on campus. Free food and drinks provided.

Sponsored by the IHC's Global Childhood Media Research Focus Group
